ECLIPSES for the Year 1783.

THERE will be but two Eclipses this Year ; both of the Sun, and both invisible.

I. The first is on wednesday June 4th, at about 4 o'clock in the morning.

II. The second happens on thursday November 27th, about half after 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

N. B. There is a BLAZING STAR expected the latter End of this Year, or the beginning of the Year 1789.

The Planet Venus will be Occidental or our Evening Star, from the beginning of this Year to the 7th day of August, at half past 8 o'clock in the afternoon, when she will be in conjunction with the Sun ; and from thence she will be Oriental or morning Star, to the end of the year.

Description of the Seven PLANETS.

Shewing how to know them in the Heavens.

SATURN, ♄, by reason of its great distance appears to the eye with but a feeble light. It performs its revolution round the Sun in about 30 years.

Jupiter, ♃, is very bright and resplendent, finishing its course round the sun in about 12 years.

Mars, ♂, is a ruddy fiery coloured planet, finishing its course in about two years.

Venus, ♀, is the brightest of all the planets, constantly attending the sun, and never distant from him above 47 degrees. It finishes its course in about seven months. When it goes before the sun it is called Phosphorus and Lucifer, and when it follows him, Hesperus.

Mercury, ☿, a little bright planet, the sun's constant companion, from whose side he never departs above 28 degrees, and by that means usually hid in his splendor. Performs its course in about three months.

Sol ☉, and Luna ☾, are well known, and therefore need here no particular description.

From these Definitions a person may easily distinguish all the planets. For if after sun-set he sees a planet nearer to the east than the west, he may conclude it is neither Mercury nor Venus ; and may determine whether it is Saturn, Jupiter or Mars, by the colour and light : By which also he may distinguish betwixt Mercury & Venus.

A short Description of NEW-ENGLAND.

The general Name, NEW-ENGLAND, comprehends
the present STATES of

New-Hampshire,	Rhode-Island and Providence
Massachusetts,	Plantations, and
	Connecticut.

THE first effectual settlement of Europeans in this tract of Country, was made at the town of Plymouth (or New Plymouth, as it was then called) A. D. 1620, by some English people, who, to avoid persecution in England, fled to Holland, and afterwards removed to America. They landed at Cape Cod in the month of November, and suffered, during the winter, almost incredible hardships. Upon their arrival, they drew up a writing, in which they recognized King James as their King, formed themselves into "a civil body politic" for the purposes of government, and thus laid the foundation of the Colony of New Plymouth. About the same time Corporation was erected in England by the name of The Council established at Plymouth in the County of Devon, for the planting, ruling, ordering and governing of New-England," to whom the King gave all the country from the 40th to the 48th degree of north latitude, by a patent bearing date November 3d, 1620. The Council retained the powers granted them by the crown until the year 1635, when they resigned their chart having first made many grants of land to adventurers who proposed forming settlements in New-England; among others they granted The Province of Main, to Robert Gorges, in 1622, Massachusetts Bay to Sir Henry Roswell &c. in 1627, &c. &c. Plymouth Colony and Massachusetts were the most respectable settlements which were made in consequence of these grants; although the former was the oldest, the latter soon became the most populous; and emigrants from it settled upon the River Connecticut, and laid the foundation of the Colony of that name, so early as about the year 1635. Hartford was the capital of Connecticut, as New Haven was of New Haven Colony, which was founded about the same time. The Dutch, who had settled at Manhattans (now New York) had a trading house at Hartford, and considered both that place and New Haven as within their limits and subject to their jurisdiction. This occasioned some uneasiness, and as the native Indians also were very troublesome, the English found union among themselves essential to their safety, and therefore, in the year 1643 the four Colonies of

Plymouth,
Massachusetts,

Connecticut, and New Haven,

agreed upon Articles of Confederation, whereby a Congress was formed, consisting of two Commissioners from each Colony, who were chosen annually, and, when met, were considered as the Representatives of "The United Colonies of New England." The powers delegated to the Commissioners were much the same as those now possessed by Congress; and were exercised by them 'till about the time of the Revolution in England.

Having given this general account of New-England, I shall proceed to say something of the States included in it, individually; and shall begin with

CONNECTICUT

CONNECTICUT.

	Miles.		Degrees.
Length	- 90	} between {	40 and 43 N. Lat.
Breadth	- 60		72 and 74 W. Long.

THIS State comprehends the old Colonies of Connecticut and New-Haven.

The Face of the Country is generally very uneven, and many Places extremely stony, yet the Soil is fertile and the Produce plentiful : The latter consists of Wheat, Rye, Indian Corn, Oats, Barley, Flax, Hemp, &c. &c. The large Quantities of Pasture and mowing Grounds which this State affords, enable the Inhabitants to raise great Numbers of neat Cattle and Horses, many of which are driven to other Places, or sent to the West-Indies for sale. Their principal Exports, besides live Cattle and Horses, are Sheep, salted Pork (for which Connecticut is famous) and Beef, Lumber, Pot and Pearl Ashes, Flaxseed, &c. in Return for which they usually receive European and East and West India Goods.

The old Colony of Connecticut was originally settled by emigrants from Massachusetts-Bay, about the Year 1635 ; and in 1662 the Colony of New-Haven was united with it, and the common Name Connecticut given to both. Since this Union the State has had two Capitals, Hartford and New-Haven, which are, alternately, the Seat of Government. The former is situated on Connecticut River, 50 Miles from the Sea, and contains between 4 and 500 Houses, which are mostly built of Wood (as the Houses in New-England generally are) but have a neat Appearance. The latter contains about 500 houses, and is situated on the Sound which divides Connecticut from Long Island. This City is neat and regular, but as it lies in an Hollow, cannot be seen from any great Distance. In 1700 a College was founded here, called Yale College, which at present is respectable among the American Universities. The Rev. Dr. Ezra Stiles is President.

Connecticut is bounded on the North by Massachusetts, on the east by Rhode Island, on the west by New-York, and on the south by Long Island sound.

Besides the Cities of Hartford and New-Haven, three others have been lately incorporated, viz.

New-London, situated at the Mouth of the River Thames, which has the best Harbour in Connecticut.

Middletown, elegantly situated on the West Bank of Connecticut River ; and,

Norwich, a manufacturing Town, 14 Miles distant from New-London, and situated on a Branch of the River Thames, called Shetucket.

The Principal Rivers in the State are, the Connecticut Thames, and Housatonic or Stratford River. The first is above 300 Miles in Length.

The Number of Inhabitants is estimated at 220,000, whereof 6000 are Indians and Negroes.

All Religions, not inconsistent with the Peace and good Order of the State, are tolerated there.

The General Court, or Assembly, in which the Supreme legislative Authority of the State is vested, consists of two Branches, called the Upper and Lower Houses. The upper House is composed of the Governor, Deputy Governor, and twelve Assistants, all chosen annually by the Freemen ; and the lower House consists of the Representatives of the Towns, each of which sends two ;-- These are chosen twice in the Year.

R H O D E - I S L A N D, AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

Miles. }		between	{ Degrees.
Length -	50		{	41 and 42 N. Lat.
Breadth -	30	}	{	73 and 75 W. Long.

THE first Settlers of this State were Inhabitants of some of the other New-England Colonies, from whence they removed on Account of a Difference in their religious Sentiments. Some of them fixed themselves at Providence, and others on Rhode-Island ; and their Settlements were distinguished by the Names of Providence and Rhode-Island Plantations ;---the Town of Providence was the Capital of the former, and Newport of the latter ; but in the 15th Char. II. a Charter passed the Great Seal, uniting the two Settlements under the same Government, by the Name of "The English Colony of Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations." By this Charter all Powers, legislative, executive and judicial, were ceded to the "Governor and Company." The Governor, chief Magistrates, and Legislators, were to be chosen by the Freemen of the Colony, and all the judicial and executive Officers were to be annually elected by the Governor and two Houses of Assembly. As the Enjoyment of religious Liberty in its full Extent, was the primary Inducement to the Settlement of the Colony, the Charter expressly provided, "That no Person should be any wise called in Question for any Differences in Opinion in Matters of Religion, who did not actually disturb the civil Peace." A Constitution so absolutely free needed no Alterations, and accordingly none were made in it; but it still remains the Constitution of the State.

Rhode-Island is about 17 Miles in Length, and about one and an half Miles in mean Breadth, a salubrious, fertile Spot, which affords many delightful Views. The Town of Newport is situated near the Southern Extremity of the Island, and contained about 1200 Houses prior to the Revolution, but many were destroyed during the War; the most of those which remain are wooden Buildings, and but very few of them are calculated to attract Attention.

Providence is a large Town, compactly built, contains a Number of elegant Houses. Here is a College, at which the same Degrees are conferred, as in the European Universities. It is a large Brick Building, on a very convenient Plan, and, from its Situation on an high Hill, commands an extensive and elegant Prospect of the Town, River, and adjacent Country. The Rev. Dr. James Manning is the President thereof.

Providence River runs through the Town, and is crossed by a wooden Bridge which lies on Stone Piers.

In the Year 1774, the Number of Inhabitants in this State was 59,678. Their Trade was chiefly with the West-Indies, whither they exported Butter, Cheese, Horses, Sheep, Beef, Pork, Tallow, Timber, Frames for Houses, &c.

Rhode Island is bounded on the north by Massachusetts, on the south and east by the Atlantic, and on the west by Connecticut.

NEW - HAMPSHIRE.

Miles.	}	between	{	Degrees.
Length - 250				45 and 49 N. Lat,
Breadth - 140				67 and 72 W. Long.

THIS State was granted by the Council of Plymouth to Captain John Mason: The Capital of it is Portsmouth, situate upon the River Piscataqua, which has a very fine Harbour, and this, indeed, is the only Port of any Consequence, in the State.---The Climate is healthy and the Soil various:---Towards the Sea Coast, and in many inland Parts the Soil is sandy, but yields good Pasturage; and the back Lands which have been cultivated, are very fertile, and produce Indian Corn, Rye, Barley, Oats, Beans, Peas, Flax, Hemp, &c. The uncultivated Lands are covered with extensive Forests of Fir, Pine, Cedar, Cypress, Oak, Walnut, Hemlock, Beech, and a great Variety of other Trees. The Fir Trees are of a prodigious Bulk, and formerly furnished the Royal Navy of Great Britain with Masts and Yards.---Ship building may be carried on here very extensively, as the State produces every Material necessary in that Business, and much has already been done in this Way: During the late War several Frigates, and at the Close of it, a 74 Gun Ship, were built at Portsmouth.---The Manufactures of this State are but few, and those intended generally for home Consumption:---Their Exports consist principally of Vessels of different Burthens, built for Sale; Lumber, Pot & Pearl Ashes, Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Poultry, salted Provisions, and dried Fish, in Return for which they receive West India Produce, and European Manufactures.

In New-Hampshire, as in the rest of the United States, there is no particular religious Establishment, but every Man is at Liberty to worship God according to the Dictates of his own Conscience. There is a College at Dartmouth (over which the Hon. John Wheelock, Esq; presides) and an Academy at Exeter; and each Town is required by Law, to maintain a School for the Education of Youth; but, notwithstanding these Provisions, the Interests of Science have been much neglected.

The Legislature consists of a Council, and a House of Representatives, both chosen annually by the People. The President of the Council acts as Governor of the State, is Captain General of the Militia, and Vice-Admiral.

MASSACHUSETTS.

THE State of Massachusetts comprehends the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay, granted by Council of Plymouth, to Roswell and others in 1627 ; the Colony of Plymouth, granted by the same Council, to William Bradford in 1629 ; and, the Province of Maine, granted by the same Council to Robert Gorges, in 1622.

The two latter, together with the Territory of Sagadahock, were annexed to the former by a Royal Charter dated October 7th, 1691.

The Intervention of the State of New-Hampshire separates the Province of Maine and the Territory of Sagadahock, from the other Parts of the State of Massachusetts, and it will be difficult to convey a just Idea of either the Situation or Extent of this very large Commonwealth. The inland part of the country is high and mountainous, and consequently barren ; but on the coast and other parts, it is tolerable fruitful, with excellent pasturing. It has a great Extent of Sea Coast, possesses many fine Harbours ; and is watered by a Number of Rivers, the principal of which are the Kennebeck, Amoris-coggin, and Merrimack. The Climate, Soil, Produce, Manufactures and Trade, are much the same with those of New-Hampshire, but the two last are carried on more extensively. There are about 330 Towns, and more than 400 religious Societies, of different Denominations, within the Limits of this State, of which those of the Congregational Persuasion are the most numerous, as they are throughout New England ; but all possess equal Liberty with Respect to Worship, and the Government of their Churches.

The Government of the State of Massachusetts is vested, by the Constitution, in a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Council, Senate, and House of Representatives :---The two latter form the General Court.

The Governor, Lieut. Governor, and House of Representatives, are annually chosen by the People ; who also choose, every Year, 40 Persons for Senators and Counsellors. Out of these 40, nine are chosen by a joint Ballot of the Senate and House of Representatives, to be a Council for advising the Governor; the remaining 31 are the Senate.

A Secretary, Treasurer, Commissary General, Impost and Excise Officers, Naval Officers, and Notaries Public, are annually chosen by the Legislature.

All Laws originate either with the Senate or House of Representatives, and each has a Negative upon the other.

Besides the Schools which the Laws require to be maintained by each Town, this Commonwealth boasts of several Institutions for the Advancement of Science; among which are,

Harvard University, in the Town of Cambridge, founded so long ago as the year 1636. Over which the Rev. Joseph Willard, D.D. at present presides.

Dummer Academy at Newbury, established March 1, 1763, and incorporated October 3, 1782.

Samuel Moody, Esq; is Preceptor.

Phillips's Academy, at Andover, established April 1, 1778, and incorporated October 8, 1780.

Ebenezer Pemberton, A. M. is Preceptor.

Leicester Academy, at Leicester; incorporated March 23, 1784. Annual meeting on the Monday preceeding the vacation in July, which is the tuesday in the week preceeding the Commencement at Cambridge.

Benjamin Stone, A. M. is Preceptor.

Derby School, at Hingham; incorporated Nov. 11, 1784.

Williams's School, at Williamston, incorporated March 8, 1785.

Grammar School, in Ipswich; the Act for regulating the same for 21 years in 1765, made perpetual Feb. 1787.

The intention of these Academies and Schools is for the purpose of promoting true piety and virtue, and for the educating of youth in the learned languages, together with writing, arithmetic, and the art of speaking; also geometry, logic, philosophy, &c.

There are also three Marine Societies in that Commonwealth, viz. at Boston, Salem, and Newbury Port, instituted for improvement in the knowledge of the Sea Coasts and other Maritime matters; also to relieve one another in the adverse accidents of life to which the "order" of seafaring men is peculiarly liable.

The annual meeting of the Boston Marine Society is on the first tuesday of November.

There are other Charitable Societies for the laudable purpose of aiding such of themselves as may be distressed by any calamity, and for relieving of the widows and orphans of their deceased members, viz.

Massachusetts Charitable Society; incorporated Dec. 16, 1779. Their yearly meeting, for the choice of Officers, is on the first monday in September, in Boston.

Boston Episcopal Charitable Society; incorporated Feb. 12, 1784. Their annual meeting is on Easter Tuesday, Scots Charitable Society; incorporated March 16, 1786.

Massachusetts Congregational Society; incorporated March 24, 1785. Annual meeting on the monday next preceeding the last wednesday in May.

Other Societies are, by law, established there, such as, Warwick Church and Congregation; incorporated April 27, 1779. Annual meeting the third Wednesday in March.

Congregational Church in New Salem; incorporated May 3, 1784. Annual meeting the third wednesday in March.

The Congregational Parish in Norton; incorporated March 4, 1781. The choice of five Trustees is at their annual Town meeting in March.

Congregational Society in Mendon; incorporated March 15, 1784. Annual meeting the third Wednesday in March.

Congregational Society in Orange; incorporated July 5, 1784. Annual meeting the fourth wednesday in March.

The five last Congregational incorporations are for the purpose of appropriating the interest of a certain sum of money for the support of a learned protestant minister in said parishes, &c.

A Bank is also established in the Town of Boston, the Proprietors of which were incorporated Feb. 7, 1784. The design of it is intended to be of public utility, and more particularly beneficial to the trading part of the community. It is kept open every day in the year, except Sundays, public Fasts, Thanksgiving and Christmas days, Good Friday, general Election days, and the 4th of July. Their annual meeting for the choice of Directors is on the first wednesday in January.

There is also in said Commonwealth an Academy of Arts & Sciences; incorporated May 4, 1780. Consisting of about 120 members, of the most respectable characters in America as well as those of foreign nations:—For their names, see last year's Massachusetts Register.

The design of the Academy of Arts, &c. is to promote and encourage the knowledge of the antiquities of America, and of the natural history of the country, and to determine the uses to which the various natural productions of the country may be applied; to promote and encourage medical discoveries, mathematical disquisitions, philosophical enquiries and experiments; astronomical, meteorological & geographical observations; and improvements in agriculture, arts, manufactures and commerce; and, in fine, to cultivate every art and science which may tend to advance the interest, honor, dignity and happiness of a free, independent and virtuous people.

The annual interest of such estate as may be given to the Academy, is to be appropriated for premiums to encourage improvements in agriculture, manufactures, &c.

Their stated meetings are four times in a year, viz. on the last wednesday in January, and the day next preceeding the last wednesday in May in Boston; and on the wednesday next preceeding the last tuesday in August, and the second wednesday in November, at the University in Cambridge.

The Hon. James Bowdoin, Esq; LL.D. is President.

The Rev. Joseph Willard, D.D. Vice-President.

Caleb Gannet, A. M. Recording Secretary.

Rev. Joseph Willard, D.D. Corresponding Secretary.

Ebenezer Storer, Esq; Treasurer.

Benjamin Guild, A. M. Vice-Treasurer.

Caleb Gannet, A. M. Keeper of the Cabinet, &c.

Hon. Samuel Adams, Esq;

Loammi Baldwin, Esq;

Hon. Richard Cranch, Esq;

Hon. Benjamin Lincoln, Esq;

Hon. John Lowell, Esq;

} COUNSELLORS.

A large and respectable Committee from the Academy of Arts, &c. is appointed for the special business of promoting and encouraging improvements in the several branches of Husbandry, and to make experiments therein, and to connect any Gentlemen with them in promoting the end of their appointment; likewise to publish, from time to time, such observations as they may determine to be beneficial to the community. An annual sum is subscribed by them and others, for the above laudable purpose. Their stated meetings are on the last Wednesday in February, April, June, August, October and December. This Committee, at their meeting in October 1786, for the encouragement of agriculture, voted to give the following premiums, viz.

1. For the greatest quantity of good manure, not less than 200 tons, collected on one farm, in one year, from materials common to most farms--an account to be given of the yard or place where the same was collected, and the manner of collecting it.—Twelve Pounds.

2. For the second greatest quantity, not less than 100 tons—Six Pounds.

Certificates of the quantity, with the account required, to be laid before the Committee on or before the last Wednesday of April, 1788.

3. For the discovery, from actual experiments, of the best vegetable food, exclusive of all kinds of grain, for increasing the milk of cows and ewes in March and April, which may be easily procured & preserved—A Gold Medal.

The account to be laid before the Committee by the last Wednesday in June, 1788.

4. For the best set of experiments, made of a course of crops, on not less than four acres of land—or of such a succession of crops without the intervention of fallows or rest, as is best calculated for profit, and to preserve the fertility of the land—Twelve Pounds.

5. For the second best—Six Pounds.

The account, with proper evidence, to be produced on or before the last Wednesday of December, 1791.

6. For a cheap and more easy method for destroying canker-worms, or preventing their injuring fruit-trees, than has hitherto been practiced—or for an effectual method for preventing worms from injuring locusts and other trees—A Gold Medal.

The account with proper evidence to be produced by the last Wednesday of October, 1788.

7. For the greatest quantity of either cabbages, carrots or turnips, or of all of them together, raised on one farm, in the year 1787, or 1788, designed for foddering cattle, and actually applied to that purpose—Twelve Pounds.

8. For the greatest produce, per acre, of the same articles, designed and applied for the same use, on any quantity of land not less than two acres—Six Pounds.

Evidence to be produced on or before the last Wednesday of December, 1788.

9. For the best method of preserving salted beef or pork, in barrels, with satisfactory evidence, that any quantity, not less than three barrels, packed by the claimant, or under his direction, has been in a state of perfect preservation, after a voyage of not less than seven months, in which it has been carried to the West-Indies and Europe, or across the Equinoctial Line—Eighteen Pounds.

The account and evidence to be produced on or before the last Wednesday of February, 1788.

10. For the best method of raising hogs, and making large quantities of pork, in pens or sties, or from natural or artificial grass, or other vegetables, in the fields—Six Pounds.

The account, with proper evidence, to be produced on or before the last Wednesday of December, 1787.

They have likewise in that Commonwealth a Medical Society, incorporated by the legislature Nov. 1, 1781.

The design of the institution of which Society is to promote medical and surgical knowledge, enquiries into the animal œconomy, and the properties and effects of medicine, as well as to make a just discrimination between such as are duly educated and properly qualified for the duties thereof, and those who may ignorantly administer medicine. Their stated meetings are on the second wednesday in April, the first wednesday in June, and the third wednesday in October, annually.

They have a President, Vice-President, Counsellors, a Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Treasurer, Vice-Treasurer, and Censors to examine and approve Candidates for the practice of Physic and Surgery.—

They have also a Committee of Gentlemen belonging to their Society, residing in the several counties, for the purpose of encouraging the communications of all extraordinary and important Cases that may occur in the practice of the Medical Art, and for this purpose to meet, correspond, and communicate with any individuals, or any association of Physicians, that have been, or may be formed in their respective Counties, and to make report of their doings from time to time to the Society as occasion may require. For the names of whom see page 71 of last year's Register.

A Humane Society was instituted there in the year 1785, for the recovery of persons apparently dead. Their annual meeting, for the choice of Officers, is on the first Tuesday of December: A semiannual meeting is also held on the second Tuesday of June, at which time a public discourse is to be delivered upon some medical subject connected with the principal objects of the society.

This Society is under the government of twelve Trustees, of whom one is President, two are Vice-Presidents, one Treasurer, one Recording Secretary, and one Corresponding Secretary.

This Society also adjudges premiums to those who by signal exertions shall save others from death, or who shall first discover, and endeavour to recover Persons apparently dead, or bring the first intelligence to one of the Physicians of the Society of such accidents as produce apparent death. They have, consistently with their institution, ordered a building to be erected, at their expence, on Marshfield beach, another on the outer beach of Nantasket, and one on Lovell's island (being places more peculiarly exposed in tempestuous weather) for the reception and preservation of such unfortunate persons as may be shipwrecked near those places.

The Proprietors of Charles River Bridge (leading from the north part of Boston to Charleston) were incorporated March 9, 1785. This Bridge is 1500 feet long, and 42 feet wide: The toll for a foot passenger is two thirds of a penny, or one copper; one person and horse, two pence two thirds of a penny; single horse cart, sled or sley, four pence; wheelbarrows, hand carts, and other vehicles of like nature, one penny one third of a penny; single horse and chaise, chair or sulkey, eight pence; coaches, chariots, phaetons, and curricles, one shilling; all other wheel carriages or sleds, drawn by more than one beast, six pence; neat cattle and horses passing, exclusive of those rode, or in carriages or teams, one penny; one third of a penny; swine and sheep, four pence for each dozen: The toll is to be paid for all carriages, loaded or not loaded, and only one driver to each to pass free from payment. Double toll is to be paid on the Lord's day. Annual meeting for the choice of Directors, &c, is on the second tuesday in July.

The Proprietors of Malden Bridge, across Penny Ferry to Charleston neck, were incorporated March 1, 1787. This Bridge is above 2000 feet in length, and 32 in width. It is built in the same manner as Charles River bridge, with a convenient draw, and is strong and substantial. The toll, as established by law, is, for every foot passenger, one penny and one third of a penny; for each person and horse, four pence; for each horse and cart, six pence; for each team drawn by more than one beast, nine pence; for each horse and chaise, nine pence; for each coach, chariot, phaeton & curricule, eighteen pence; for each man and wheelbarrow, two pence two thirds of a penny; for each horse and neat cattle, two pence; for sheep and swine, two thirds of a penny: Toll on Lord's days to be double the above rates. Annual meeting first tuesday in July.

All the foregoing Corporations are under the care and direction of Presidents, Directors, Trustees, and other proper Officers, who are to manage the affairs thereof agreeable to law, and are annually elected.

There is a number of other Incorporations in this State, to benefit particular Societies, but of less consequence than the foregoing.

There are properly no religious tests in this Commonwealth; all who profess the Christian religion, and renounce every foreign jurisdiction, civil and ecclesiastic, are admissible to offices of government.

The number of inhabitants in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by the returns from the several towns, in the year 1786, was 252,171 whites, and 4371 blacks.

Boston is the Capital of this State, it is built upon a peninsula of an irregular form, at the bottom of a large bay; the town, exclusive of the neck which joins to Roxbury, is about two miles long, & the greatest breadth about one mile, and is supposed to contain one thousand acres of land; at present there are in it about 2000 dwelling houses, and near 15,000 inhabitants; but the rateable polls are scarcely 2500. The town is divided into 10 streets, 40 lanes, and 20 alleys (exclusive of squares and courts) and near 100 wharves and quays, very convenient for vessels to lade or unlade, and has an excellent harbour, being both safe and commodious, as it is surrounded with many islands, which afford rich pasturing, hay, &c. The number of dwelling houses, stores, &c. in that town is not so great as they formerly were; the frequent "great" fires* (exclusive of smaller ones) and the destruction made by the British troops during the siege in 1775, having much reduced them. The country round about is very delightful, and abounds with all sorts of provisions and other necessaries of life; and the climate perfectly agrees with the constitution of the inhabitants. The town, in the year 1735, was divided into twelve wards, in each of which is an Overseer of the Poor, a Constable, Scavenger, a Fireward, and a Fire Engine, for the care and management of which a number of suitable persons are appointed (not exceeding 15 to an Engine) who are to see that they are in good repair, and ready to proceed on any emergency to the relief of any part of the town, or those adjacent, that may be invaded by the calamity of fire, either by night or day, and to be under the direction of the Firewards.

* Since the first settlement of Boston (about the year 1630) there have happened therein eleven of such as were emphatically called great fires, viz.

1st, in 1653,	5th, in 1690,	9th, in 1759,
2d, 1675,	6th, 1691,	10th, 1760,
3d, 1679,	7th, 1702,	11th, 1787.
4th, 1683,	8th, 1711,

The great Fire in March 1760, destroyed near 300 houses, Stores, &c.—and that in April 1787, about 100, including Stores, Shops, barns, &c. &c.

—In that town there are upwards of 30 voluntary associated Fire Societies, which, upon an average, are supposed to contain 20 members each, and who by their articles of agreement are constantly to keep in readiness two leather buckets, and two large bags, and upon the cry of fire they are immediately to repair with the same to the place where the fire may happen; so that, almost instantly, the Engines are assisted by a great number of firemen (besides other inhabitants, who are very alert on such occasions) with a sufficient supply of buckets: The Buildings in that town being chiefly of wood, these judicious establishments have frequently saved it from almost total destruction; and were the same precautions taken in other populous places, it is probable such great devastations would not be made therein by that destructive element.

The Powers and Privileges of the Towns in this Commonwealth, are, That the Freeholders and other Inhabitants therein are to meet annually in the month of March for the choice of Town Officers: Every inhabitant who pays to a single tax, besides the poll, a sum equal to two thirds of a single poll tax, is qualified to vote.

Persons chosen into office are to be summoned to appear before the town clerk, to take the oaths prescribed by law; the forfeiture on neglect is 30s. The town clerks are to record such as are sworn into office.

When ten or more of the freeholders of a town shall signify in writing to the selectmen their desire to have any matter or thing inserted in a warrant for calling a meeting, they are to do it; and nothing is to be acted upon, or to have any legal operation, unless the subject matter is inserted in the warrant. If the selectmen unreasonably deny to call a meeting, application may be made to any justice of the peace in the county, who is authorized to call the same.

No person is obliged to serve in any town office two years successively; nor is any person in commission of any office, civil or military, church officer, member of the council, senate, or house of representatives, for the time being, nor any who has served in the office of a constable or collector within seven years, obliged to serve in the office of constable. Persons not exempted, and refuse to serve as constable, in the towns of Boston,

Salem, or Newbury-port, are to forfeit 10/. In other towns the fine is only 5/. In case of vacancy, by reason of non-acceptance, death, or removal of any person chosen into office, the towns may proceed to a new choice to fill up such vacancy.

At every town meeting (except for the voting for Governor, &c. at which time the selectmen preside) a moderator is to be first chosen to regulate and manage the business of the meeting; and no person is to speak before leave is had from the moderator, nor when any other person is orderly speaking: All persons are to be silent at the desire of the moderator, on forfeiture of 5s. and if any person after such notice shall persist in such disorderly behaviour, and refuses or neglects to withdraw at the direction of the moderator, he is to forfeit 20s. and may be ordered to be carried out of the meeting and put into the stocks, cage, or some other place of confinement.

Every town at their annual, or other town meetings, are empowered to grant and assess money for necessary charges—To make by-laws and annex penalties not exceeding 30s. for any one offence, to be approbated by the Court of Sessions.

The inhabitants of every town is a body politic and corporate, and may sue or be sued, in any suits or actions, at any Court proper to try the same.

The train band of each town is to consist of persons from 16 to 40 years of age, and the alarm list of all (with a few exceptions) under 60 years of age: They are to be constantly provided with a good fire arm, with an iron ram-rod and bayonet, a worm, priming wire and brush, a cartridge box that will hold 15 cartridges, six flints, one pound of powder, forty leaden balls, a haversack, blanket and canteen: The fine for not being so equipt is £.3, and for not appearing on muster days 10s.

Each town is to be constantly provided with 100 wt. of gun powder, 300 wt. of leaden balls, and 300 flints for every sixty soldiers, on penalty of £. 5.

By their Constitution, or Frame of Government, the inhabitants of every town are to meet on the first Monday in April annually, to give in their votes for a Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Senators; the choice of whom is to be declared on the last Wednesday in May.

Every town having 150 rateable polls, may elect one Representative; a town containing 375, may elect two, and if 600, they may elect three; after which 225 polls is to be the mean increasing number for every additional Representative.

The lines between towns are to be run, and the marks renewed within three years after the last of March 1786, and once in five years for ever after, by two or more of the Selectmen of each town, or such other persons as they shall in writing appoint.

Every town is to be provided with an able, learned, and orthodox Minister. And,

All towns of 50 householders or upwards, are to be provided with a School-master, to teach children and youth to read, write and cypher; and towns of 100 families are to be provided with a grammar school:—The town of Boston supports six public free schools, two for learning of Greek, Latin, &c. and four for reading, writing and arithmetic; the annual expence of which is near £.1700 lawful money.—There are also in that town a number of what are called private schools, for the above purposes, as well as for instruction in the art of navigation, gaging, surveying, and other branches of the mathematics; likewise for fencing, music and dancing; the Teachers of which are paid by the individuals who attend them, and not by the town.

The following Gentlemen are the present Selectmen, viz.

John Scollay, Esq;
Harbottle Dorr, Esq;
Ezekiel Price, Esq;
John Brown, Esq;
Capt. Edward Tyler,

Mr. John Andrews,
Thomas Walley, Esq;

Mr. Ebenezer Seaver.

The Selectmen are also Surveyors of the High Ways.

The Selectmen meet at their chamber, at the east end of Faneuil-hall, every wednesday afternoon, for transacting the prudential affairs of the town, and the last monday in every month for the examining and allowing such accounts as may be exhibited against the town.

William Cooper, Esq; is their Town Clerk, who has been annually chosen to that Office for 27 years:—And Peter Boyer, Esq; Town Treasurer.

That town also supports an Almshouse, at a very great expence, for the benefit of the poor, aged, & infirm of all descriptions; it is a long building, in a very healthy part of the town, and is capable of accomodating near 300 persons, and is under the care of twelve Overseers, annually chosen. It is kept under very good regulations. Capt. Samuel Partridge is the present master of it. — They have likewise a large brick Work-house, built in the year 1738, and a Bridewell, for the reception of all vagrant, idle and dissolute persons of both sexes. Capt. Benjamin Hammett, is the present keeper thereof.

Continental Money.

By the United States in Congress assembled
August 8th, 1786.

RESOLVED, That the standard of the United States of America, for gold and silver, shall be eleven parts fine and one part alloy.

That the money unit of the United States, being by the resolve of Congress of the 6th July 1785, a dollar, shall contain, of fine silver, three hundred and seventy-five grains and sixty four hundredths of a grain.

That the money of account, to correspond with the division of coins, agreeably to the above resolve, proceed in a decimal ratio, agreeably to the forms and manner following, viz.

Mills, the lowest money of account, of which one thousand shall be equal to the federal dollar, or money unit, - - - - - 0,000

Cents, the highest copper piece, of which one hundred shall be equal to the federal dollar, - 0,010

Dimes, the lowest silver coin, of which ten shall be equal to the dollar, - - - 0,100

Dollar, the highest silver coin, - - - 1,000

That betwixt the dollar and the lowest copper coin, as fixed by the resolve of Congress of the 6th of July, 1785, there shall be three silver coins, and one copper coin.

That the silver coins shall be as follows: One coin containing one hundred and eighty-seven grains, and eighty-two hundredths of a grain of fine silver, to be called a Half Dollar: One coin containing seventy-five grains and one hundred and twenty-eight thousandths of a grain of fine silver, to be called a Double Dime: And one coin containing thirty-seven grains and five hundred and sixty-four thousandths of a grain of fine silver, to be called a Dime.

That the two copper coins shall be as follows: One equal to one hundredth part of the federal dollar, to be called a Cent; the other, equal to two hundredth part of a dollar, to be called a Half Cent.

That two pounds and a quarter avoirdupoise weight of copper, shall constitute one hundred cents.

That there shall be two gold coins: One containing two hundred and forty-six grains, and two hundred and sixty-eight thousandths of a grain of fine gold, equal to ten dollars. to be stamped with the impression of the merican Eagle, and to be called An Eagle : One containing one hundred and twenty-three grains and one hundred and thirty-four thousandths of a grain of fine gold, equal to five dollars, to be stamped in like manner, and to be called A Half Eagle.

That the mint price of a pound troy weight of uncoined silver, eleven parts fine and one part alloy, shall be nine dollars, nine dimes and two cents.

That the mint price of a pound troy weight of uncoined gold, eleven parts fine and one part alloy, shall be two hundred and nine dollars, seven dimes and seven cent.

By another Resolve of Congress of July 6, 1787, the Board of Treasury is to direct the Contractor for the copper coinage, to stamp on one side of each piece the following device, viz. Thirteen circles linked together in a small circle in the middle, with the words, "United States," round it, and in the centre, "We are one." On the other side of the same piece the following devices, viz. A dial, with the hours expressed on the face of it, a meridian sun above, on one side of which is to be the word "Fugio," and on the other the year in figures, "1787," below the dial, the words "mind your business."

Massachusetts Mint.

By a Law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, passed in October 1786, a Mint is to be erected there for the coining of gold, silver, and copper, of the same weight, alloy and value as is fixed by the Resolve of Congress of the 8th of August :—The quantity of copper coin to be struck to be equal to the amount of 70,000 dollars, of two denominations; one to have Cent stamped in the center, and the other Half Cent, with such inscriptions or devices as the Governor with the advice of Council may think proper, and are to be received in all payments whatsoever. The Inspectors of the Mint are to give bond with sureties for the faithful discharge of the duties of their appointment. Joshua Wetherlee, Esq; of Boston, is employed in conducting the coinage.

The Inspectors of the Mint, are, from time to time, to lay before the Governor and Council an account of their doings, and state of the Mint, that the same may be laid before the General Court.

Christo. Martin	Francis Eaton	Richard Gardiner
William Mullins	James Chilton	John Allerton
William White	John Craxton	Thomas English
Richard Warren	John Billington	Edward Doten, or
John Howland	Moses Fletcher	(Dote)
Stephen Hopkins	John Goodman	Edward Lenth

The above are only the names of the males, who were of age; the whole number, including their wives and children, was 101, of which near one half died in about four months after they landed. In 1630 there were 3 alive, in 1679 there were 12, in 1694 only 2, and in 1698 but 1 was then living.

List of Governors of the Colony of Plimouth till they were included in the Massachusetts Charter.

John Carver	Edward Winslow	Josh Winslow
William Bradford	Thomas Prince	Thomas Hinkley

During the space of 70 years they had no more than the above named six Persons for Governors. Mr. Carver died the first year after their arrival, Mr. Bradford succeeded him, and was chosen annually from 1621 until he died in 1657, except in 1633, 1636, and 1644, when Mr. Winslow was chosen, and 1634 when Mr. Thomas Prince was chosen, who also succeeded Bradford, and was annually elected, until his death in 1673, when Mr. Winslow succeeded, and continued till he died in 1680, he was succeeded by Mr. Hinkley, who held the place, except in the interruption by Governor Andros, until the junction with the Massachusetts in 1692.

The Massachusetts Charter being dissolved in 1686, Mr. Joseph Dudley received a Commission in May, appointing him President of a Council for Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine, named by the King, not by separate warrants or by mandamus, but all in one commission:—His administration was short, being interrupted by the arrival of Sir Edmund Andros, Decemb. 20, 1686, with a commission from King James, which lasted three years, till the people took the government out of his hands & imprisoned him, then assumed it themselves & appointed their last Magistrates till the arrival of Sir William Phips, May 14, 1692, with a commission from King William and Queen Mary.

There are no public records from the dissolution of the old charter government in 1686, until the restoration of it in 1689. If there was any book of records, it was either secreted or destroyed by Sir Edmund Andros, or some of his coadjutors.

Governor Gage (who was also the British General) left the Province in 1775; and Boston being then a garrison town, subject to martial law, the chief command devolved on General Howe, (the appearance of a Lieutenant Governor and mandamus Council was kept up there only) but he with the troops, men of war, &c. being obliged to evacuate that place March 17, 1776, it was the same day taken possession of by a detachment from Gen. Washington's army, then in the vicinity.—In the mean time, till the new Constitution or Frame of Government took place in October 1780, the public matters, in the recess of the General Court, were under the care and direction of a Council, annually chosen agreeable to the charter granted in the third year of the reign of King William and Queen Mary: The Hon. James Bowdoin, Jeremiah Powell, Artemas Ward, William Sever, James Otis, Benjamin Greenleaf, and Walter Spooner, Esq's, have acted as Presidents (at Watertown or Boston) as they happened to be the eldest Counsellor present, till the choice of Governors took place, viz.

The anniversary Convention of the Congregational Ministers is held at Boston the Thursday following the last Wednesday in May; on which day a Sermon is publicly preached before them, and a collection made for the charitable purpose of relieving and supporting such of the families of their Order as may stand in need thereof.

The Rev. Nathan Fiske, of Brookfield, is chosen to preach the Sermon at the next Convention; but in case of sickness, or other providential impediment that he cannot attend, the Rev. Mr. Jacob Cushing, of Waltham, is to officiate in his stead.

The Rev. Mr. John Clarke, of Boston, is Scribe to the Convention of Ministers.

The next Meeting of the Warren [Baptist] Association is to be held at Sturbridge, in the County of Worcester, the Tuesday after the first Wednesday in September, 1788.

No Person is to be admitted an Attorney of any Court, unless he is a person of a good moral character and well affected to the constitution and government of the Commonwealth, and hath had opportunity to qualify himself for the office, and hath made such proficiency as to render him useful therein; nor are they to be admitted to practice in any Court of Justice until they have, in open Court, taken and subscribed the declaration prescribed in the constitution of this Commonwealth, and an Oath, in tenor following.

YOU solemnly swear, that you will do no falsehood, nor consent to the doing of any in Court, and if you know of an intention to commit any, you will give knowledge thereof to the Court, or some of them, that it may be prevented: You will not wittingly or willingly promote or sue any false, groundless, or unlawful suit, nor give aid or consent to the same; you will delay no man for lucre or malice; but you will conduct yourself in the office of an Attorney within the Courts, according to the best of your knowledge and discretion, and with all good fidelity, as well to the Courts as your Clients. So help you GOD.

Parties may plead and manage their own causes personally, or by the assistance of such Counsel as they shall see fit to engage; but the plaintiff or plaintiffs in any suit, are not to be allowed to manage their cause by more than two Attornies, nor is any defendant to be allowed to employ a greater number.
